

Definite and tentative statements

This exercise is designed to be used with any group or team that is interested in appreciating different styles and approaches, and considering how to work together more effectively.

The focus of the activity is to explore and demonstrate the Judging preference and its desire to seek closure in the outer world, and the Perceiving preference and its desire to keep things open and explore options in the outer world.

This activity works best with a group of individuals who know each other, as they will need to discuss what they have observed about each other's behaviour in the workplace.

Applications:

Understand/manage conflict
Differences between J and P
Team development

Type preferences studied:

Judging and Perceiving

Time required:

25–30 minutes

Product code: JT0928e

