Applying

How do my FIRO scores impact on the purpose I identified at the start of this process?

What have I learnt about my interpersonal needs and behaviours?

What actions do I wish to take from what I've learnt about myself from the FIRO framework?

About this workbook

This workbook is designed to help you reflect and record your journey of discovery into FIRO's accessible and universally applicable framework.

FIRO's simple structure reveals how individuals can shape and adapt their individual behaviours, influence others effectively and build trust among colleagues. FIRO's aim is to help individuals to understand the underlying drivers behind their interactions with others.

In this book, you will see reference to FIRO and FIRO Business. This is because there are two products in the FIRO family – FIRO-B and FIRO Business – and this book focuses on FIRO Business. When we use FIRO in the text, it's because we are referring to FIRO generally.

Total overall need

Is my total overall need score high, medium or low, and how does that impact on me and my situation?

When is it important for me to flex my style when others have much lower or higher total overall need scores? How can I do this?

Contracting

Completing the FIRO questionnaire is always voluntary.

During the feedback it is fine to talk only about the things you feel comfortable sharing.

Everything you discuss in your FIRO feedback is confidential.

It's up to you whether you share your FIRO profile with others, although sharing your insights and interpersonal needs can be beneficial in building understanding.

FIRO profiles can vary greatly among people and there is no ideal profile – just different people with different needs.

Purpose

The FIRO instrument can help you to raise your self-awareness by discovering more about your experience of relationships with others.

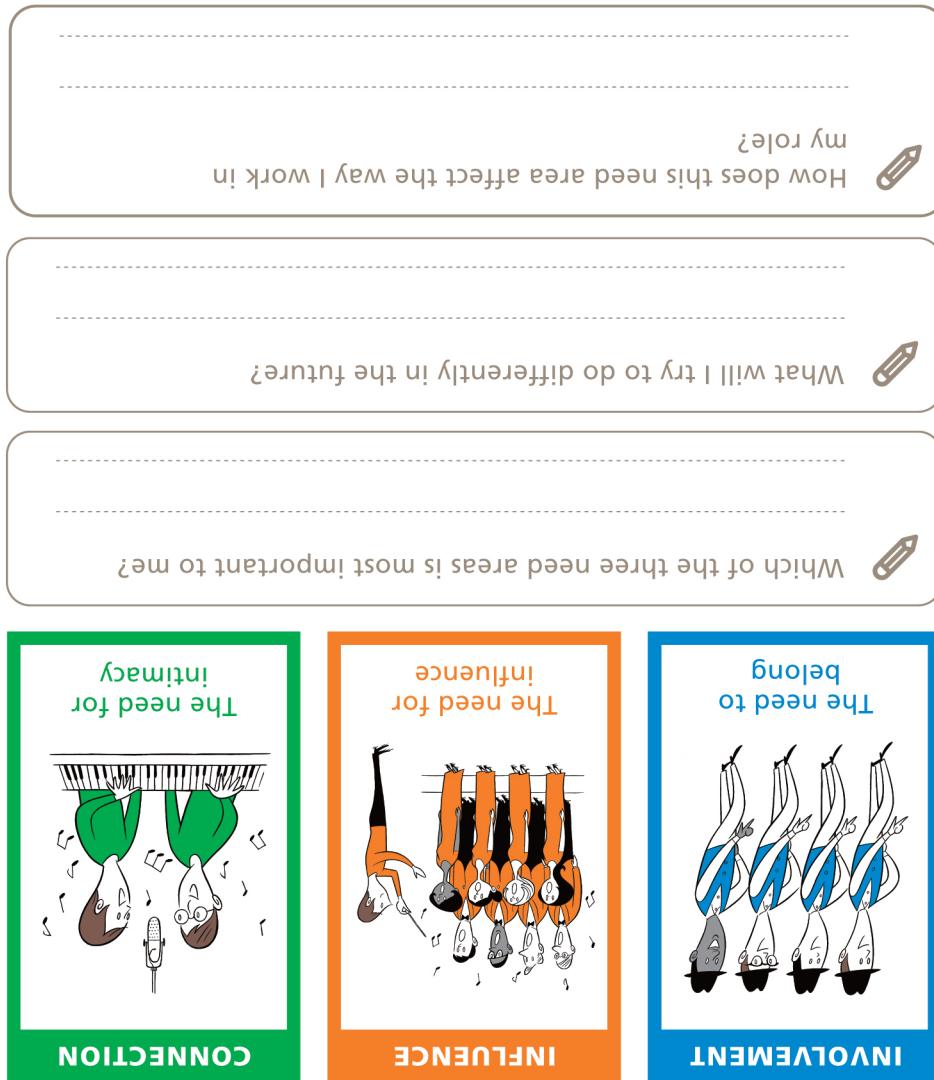

It adds a new, complementary perspective to your area score. This is the largest combined Expressed and Wanted need.

Here are some examples of areas in which the FIRO instrument can help:

- Improving relationships
- Working more effectively with others
- Developing your leadership style
- Understanding sources of conflict between people
- Managing your career
- Understanding the behaviour of others
- Identifying key aspects of job satisfaction for you
- Analysing how you fit with organisational culture

Total Expressed v Total Wanted

TOTAL EXPRESSED

TOTAL WANTED

Is there a difference between my total Expressed and total Wanted scores?

What impact does this have on me?

What impact does this have on others?

What would you like to get out of your FIRO exploration? Are there any areas in which your interpersonal relationships can be improved?

What would be your ideal outcome?

The focus in working with the FIRo instrument is on surface behaviors that can be seen and which sit above the deeper behaviors in your personality.

The roots of the water lily represent your self-concept. The stem represents your feelings. The flower represents the visible behaviors that result from these deeper aspects of your personal needs.

An analogy of a water lily can be used to understand the FIRo theory better.

The FIRo Business framework looks at interpersonal needs as basic as food, water and shelter.

Introducing

FIRo stands for:

Orientations

Relations

Interpersonal

Fundamental

FIRo stands for:

Connection

EXPRESSED CONNECTION

The extent to which I make efforts to be warm and friendly to others

HIGH

LOW

WANTED CONNECTION

The extent to which I want others to be warm and friendly to me

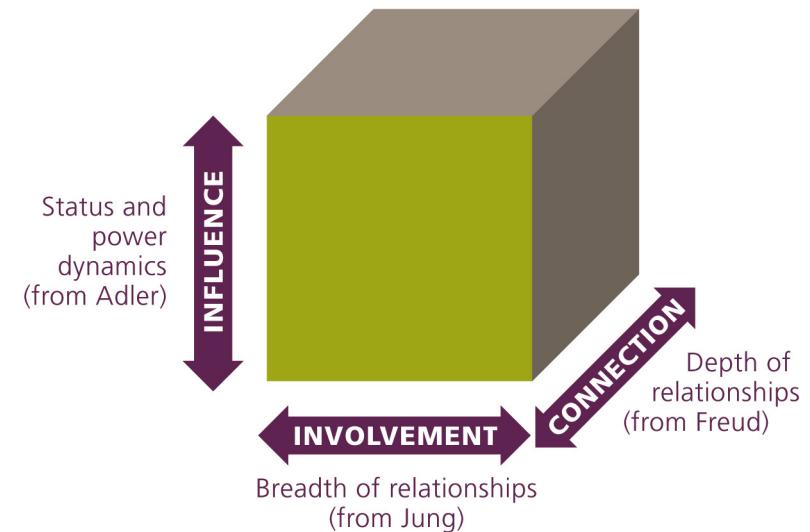

HIGH

LOW

The FIRO framework was designed by Will Schutz.

He conducted a literature search and studied aspects of respected psychological theories:

He also conducted his own research in the US Navy into what makes teams effective. He identified three areas of need: Involvement, Influence and Connection.

How do my influence scores impact on me, my relationships and the purpose I identified earlier?

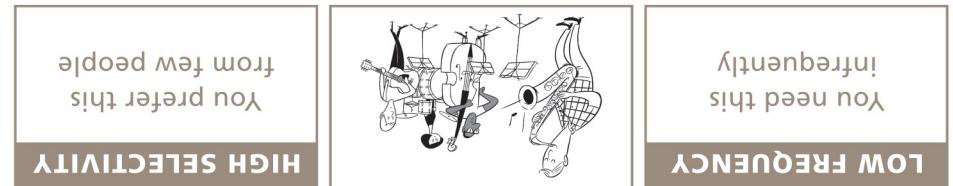

What do I notice about the difference between my expressed and Wanted influence scores?

What actions do I wish to take from what I've learned about influence?

Like one musician playing only one note, people with low FIR0 Business scores have their few interpersonal needs met by a few select people.

LOW SCORES (0% - 35%)

Like many musicians playing many notes, people with high FIR0 Business scores have their many interpersonal needs met by a wide range of people.

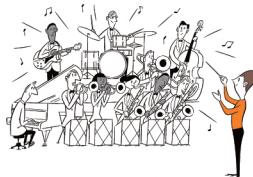

High Scores (65% - 100%)

LOW	MEDIUM	HIGH
0%-35%	36%-64%	65%-100%

Your FIR0 Business scores range 0% to 100% according to your interpersonal needs in the three areas of involvement, influence and connection.

EXPRESSED INFLUENCE

The extent to which I make efforts to control and influence others

HIGH

LOW

WANTED INFLUENCE

The extent to which I want to be in an environment that provides me with structure and clarity

HIGH

LOW

Medium scores (36%–64%)

These need probing as there are different possible meanings for medium scores and behaviour can vary according to the situation. It could be that you seek medium frequency and medium selectivity or:

LOW FREQUENCY

You don't need this often

LOW SELECTIVITY

You prefer this from everyone

Like many musicians playing only one note each, you might have few interpersonal needs but prefer to have them met by a wide range of people.

HIGH FREQUENCY

You need this often

HIGH SELECTIVITY

You prefer this from few people

Like a single musician playing many notes, you might have a few select people you rely on frequently to meet your needs.

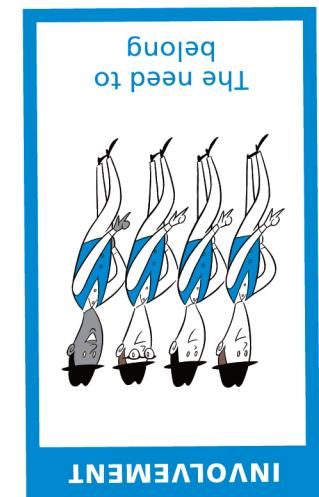

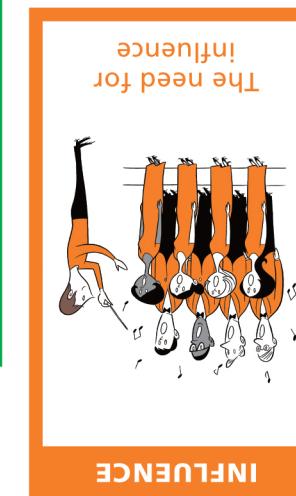

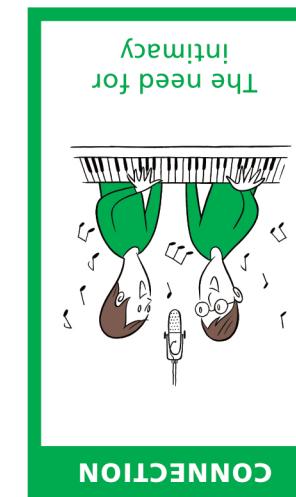

What actions do I wish to take from what I've learned about involvement?

What do I notice about the difference between my expressed and wanted involvement scores?

How do my relationships and the purpose I identified earlier? relate to my involvement scores impact on me, my
